Law Student Positions

Become part of an innovative and dynamic organization and help us make a meaningful contribution to the legal profession. The Legal Education Society of Alberta's (LESA) mission is to serve the spectrum of educational and professional development needs of Alberta's lawyers, articling students, and their staff.

Law Students working with LESA will gain experience and knowledge in the key areas of law. They will also hone the research and writing skills that are critical for success in a legal career.

Expectations:

Law Students are responsible for assisting the Legal team with legal research, writing, and review. They also help bring a valuable student perspective to our organization by assisting in updating resources for use by articling students, lawyers, and their staff. Research may be required to update existing legal content for both print publications and online resources.

Specific tasks may include:

- Reviewing and editing publication submissions,
- Researching and noting up case and statutory law for publications including practice manuals and foundational materials,
- Writing blog posts on recent legal developments,
- Assisting in the development of online courses, and
- Working to develop the online library (wiki).

Qualifications:

The position requires a student who has completed at least 1 year of law school. A good grasp of current technology would be an asset.
